

The Hottest New Travel Trend to Hit the Market

When I first saw the ad for the Kindle, I decided that it is the perfect answer for many travelers. Electronic reading is going to do away with lugging all those books and magazines! When I travel with my kids, I like to bring my reading material since my sons are finally old enough to occupy themselves on the plane. But, I have to admit, I don't always want to carry my bag of books!

This new device from Amazon is an incredible answer. It doesn't weigh as much as books; life becomes paperless. The cost of downloading the books (about $9.99) is cheaper than buying most hardbacks. And, let's face it. Whenever I finish a book on the beach on vacation, I really don't want to lug it home.

With the kindle, you will always have your reading material at your fingertips. It's lightweight, easy to pack and carry and easy to read.

It also makes a great gift for parents and grandparents who like to travel or are constantly recycling books.

And, when my in-laws travel to Florida to visit us, they always want their New York Times. We don't subscribe and the local convenient store doesn't stock it. If they have the Kindle, they wouldn't have to go paper-hunting!

For all these reasons, I think the KINDLE is a great idea!
